

Call for Artwork

a special issue on the impact of Race & Racism on health in Wisconsin

January/February 2021

The Wisconsin Medical Journal (WMJ) is seeking artwork to illustrate the impact of race and racism on the health of people in Wisconsin. Artists are invited to submit works in the following media: photography, digital design, or well-rendered photographs of painting, drawing, sculpture, ceramics, printmaking, or textile/fiber art. Selected artwork will be incorporated into a special theme issue online and, in some cases, print. One work will be selected for the issue cover.

Guidelines/Requirements

- Original artwork only. No copies or photographs of other artists' work.
- Well photographed 2D and 3D art. This means good lighting, no distracting background.
- High resolution images (at least 300 dpi).
- File types accepted: jpg, png or tiff. (Maximum file size is 64 MB.)
- If your work is selected for publication, your submitted images should not be blurry or pixelated (even if high resolution requirements are technically correct).
- All submissions will be blind reviewed, so please do NOT include artist name on document(s) and file names being submitted. There is a place for artist name in the submission form.
- Submission is not a guarantee of publication.
- Limit 2 submissions per person.

Deadline for Submissions: December 31, 2020.
